MEET THE ZANY ZEBRAS

Carol Hill

Welcome to the Zany Zebras! My name is Carol Hill. I am mom to three grown children. I have lived a diverse life living among different cultures. I spent most of my childhood living in West Africa in a community of people from around the world. This multi-cultural experience has helped me to understand cultural diversity and has given me a love of people.

I have worked with children for many years in one capacity or another. I graduated from UNC Charlotte with a BA in Elementary Education. I have been teaching for seven and a half years and have worked as an interventionist. While working with elementary age children, I became interested in teaching pre-k children to help prepare them for elementary school. I will be furthering my education beginning January, 2020.

Outside of school I have many interests. I am a vocalist in the band, InnerChange here at Central. But I also enjoy camping, hiking, bike riding, baking, sewing, and travelling.

I am excited about teaching at Children's Weekday Ministries and being part of the wonderful team of teachers and assistants here at Weekday Ministries.

Leslie Ketchum

Ms. Ketchum has been working with children for 7 years, 5 of which have been in early childhood. She has an associate degree in Early Childhood Education, as well as her Early Childhood certificate and CDA credential. She is currently working on her bachelor's degree in Human Development and Family Studies at UNC – Greensboro and can't wait to graduate next May.

Ms. Ketchum lives in Unionville with her boyfriend Chris and stepson Wesson, who is in the second grade at Unionville Elementary. When she isn't doing school-work, she loves to spend her free time with her family, and going to local festivals and events.

This is Ms. Ketchum's first year teaching at Weekday Children's Ministries!
